At the end of 2015, seven flautists from varying backgrounds came together at the initiative of Pascale Simon and decided to combine their musical experiences.

The challenge: how to take a group that at first glance seems very diverse, and achieve a result whose musical completeness and success is brought about by every member of the group in each stylistic world attempted? Their concerts are the proof of this fascinating journey on which each musician's skillset is put to the benefit of the group; from the subtle articulations of ancient music to the asymmetric rhythms of eastern European tradition music, by way of the abrupt ruptures of contemporary music; the fluid choreography of bodies and flutes is confirmation of the success of the project.

With the CD, it is time to close one's eyes and enter directly into the shifting alchemy of breath and sounds, listening to an ensemble of musicians that are both dedicated and creative, completely at ease in each of the styles proposed, without losing any of the fundamental quirks involved.
